

TEGO® Wet 240 – Makes Spray Application of Waterborne Coatings Secure and Economical

May 28, 2010

The use of the new highly effective substrate wetting additive from Evonik Tego Chemie GmbH in spray-applied waterborne coatings systems guarantees fine atomization and defect-free films even at minimal film thickness. Defect rates and remedial work in the painting process are reduced. TEGO® Wet 240 provides outstanding substrate wetting independent of co-solvent content even in the newest binder systems. With its good anti-cratering characteristics and problem-free recoatability, the solvent-free TEGO® Wet 240 can be widely used and is first choice particularly for spray-applied industrial coatings and also coatings for plastics.
